

Corrosion resistance

What is the PREN formula?

The PREN formula compares the resistance to pitting corrosion of different types of stainless steel based on their composition.

PREN numbers are very useful for classifying and comparing different types of steel, but they cannot be used to predict whether or not a steel is suitable for a given application.

Check here the corrosion resistance table

Corrosion resistance